'LET ME SAVE TOWN PLANS'

A WEALTHY property developer has offered to step in and rescue Harlow's regeneration plans from the brink – but only if the council agrees to work with him.

The proposals currently hang in the balance following the withdrawal of developer Stockland from the project earlier this year and the recent announcement that growth and regeneration quango Harlow Renaissance is to be mothballed at the end of the financial year.

But businessman Mo Ghadami – one of the town centre's biggest landowners – claims he has the financial backing, contacts and expertise to oversee a full-scale redevelopment project, and has invited council chiefs and Harlow MP Robert Halfon to approach him within the next two weeks to discuss his plans.

Speaking exclusively to the Star, he said: "I love Harlow and I want to give something back to the town's residents.

"As it stands, the future looks bleak for the town centre. The council

I am the key to town's regeneration: Ghadami will obviously try to put a brave face on and claim everything is fine, but the reality is that their plans for its regeneration have fallen apart."

The Iranian-born entrepreneur has had a number of high-profile run-ins with Harlow Council over licensing and planning issues, claiming a famous High Court victory against the authority in 2004 when a decision to grant planning permission for the expansion of the Harvey Centre was overturned.

But Mr Ghadami told the Star he was willing to "wipe the slate clean" and work alongside the authority for the benefit of the town's residents.

"I'm a big enough man to let bygones be bygones, although I would expect the council to apologise for the way I have been treated over the years," he said.

"The simple fact is that no developer can come into Harlow and regenerate the town centre without having me on their side first – I'm the key."

"I'm offering to work with the council, go back to the drawing

Cuppas to help raise vital funds for nurses

MACMILLAN Cancer Support nurses were in Harlow town centre last Friday brewing up interest in the World's Biggest Coffee Morning later this month.

Charity workers were in The Water Gardens encouraging shoppers to take part in the annual fundraiser.

They collected more than £450 from shoppers and café Esquires will also donate 10 per cent of coffee sales on the day itself.

MacMillan intern Ed Stevenson said: "We were trying to get people to host their own coffee mornings with colleagues, friends or family later this month.

"We had a really good

MacMillan nurses work in hospitals and hospices throughout the country, including Princess Alexandra

Last year 1,896 coffee mornings took place in Essex alone, raising more than £311,000.

'Vision for town will go forward'

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE organisation set up to drive forward growth and regeneration in Harlow has confirmed it will be wound up at the end of the financial year.

As the Star exclusively revealed last week, Harlow Renaissance board members met last Wednesday night to discuss the quango's future in light of the coalition Government's planned public expenditure cuts.

A Renaissance spokeswoman confirmed last Friday that the "difficult" decision had been taken to cease the company's activities at the end of March 2011.

The organisation had been left reeling after its two main sources of revenue – the Homes & Communities and Communities & Local Government agencies – announced they would not be renewing their funding contracts when they expiry in April 2011.

Their withdrawal left cash-strapped Essex County Council – currently struggling with large debts of its own – and Harlow Council as the company's only remaining funding partners.

Its closure, just three years since its creation, will come as a major blow to Harlow Council's ambitious plans for redevelopment of the town centre, which were hit earlier this year when

Offer to rescue town centre plans board, bring in some very high-profile and wealthy backers and involve the public in the design process from day one."

But council leader Andrew Johnson told the Star the authority was receiving "lots of formal enquiries" from potential developers and remained confident the regeneration scheme could still proceed in its current form.

However, he admitted the council developer Stockland pulled the plug on its involvement with the project.

But Harlow Council leader Andrew Johnson claimed Renaissance's ongoing work would continue in-house through the authority's existing regeneration team.

"Regeneration of the town remains the council's top priority and it will do all that it can to achieve this through working with its partners.

"The council's existing regeneration team already works with other organisations and this work will continue.

"Key projects for the town's regeneration, such as improvements to the town centre and regeneration of neighbourhood centres at Clifton Hatch, Prentice Place and Old Harlow will continue."

would welcome discussions with any existing land and property owners on how they could contribute to the redevelopment.

"Consultation will be an important part of developing the new proposals," he said.

"Following Stockland's withdrawal from the Town Centre North scheme, we are focused on taking the project forward and ensuring that we bring the benefits of the Town Centre North vision to Harlow as soon as possible."

Harlow MP Rob Halfon told the Star he was "disappointed" by the news but said Harlow Council had assured him that the company's work to date had laid the foundations for future redevelopment of the town.

"It's a real shame that Renaissance – in its current form at least – is being wound up," he said.

"The staff had a great vision for the future of Harlow and I hope that they can continue to have some input into plans for the town's regeneration.

"I have spoken at length with Harlow Council on this issue and have been assured that all Renaissance's current projects will be continued in-house by the regeneration team and I have every confidence that the transition will be made smoothly."

Alzheimer's speaker at friends' meeting

PATRICIA Saich, from the Alzheimer's Society, will be the guest speaker at the Friends of Addison House's AGM on Thursday, September 16.

Light refreshments will be available. Everyone is welcome.

Barista's shot at coffee title

CAFFEINE addicts were treated to a charitable coffee-making masterclass at a Harlow café on Monday.

Barista Karolina Cioleczk brewed up a storm at Costa Coffee in the Queensgate Centre by mixing her signature drink – the Double Chocolate Mocha – in return for donations to international charity The Costa Foundation.

The 19-year-old Nazeing resident was practising for her shot at the chain's Barista of the Year title.

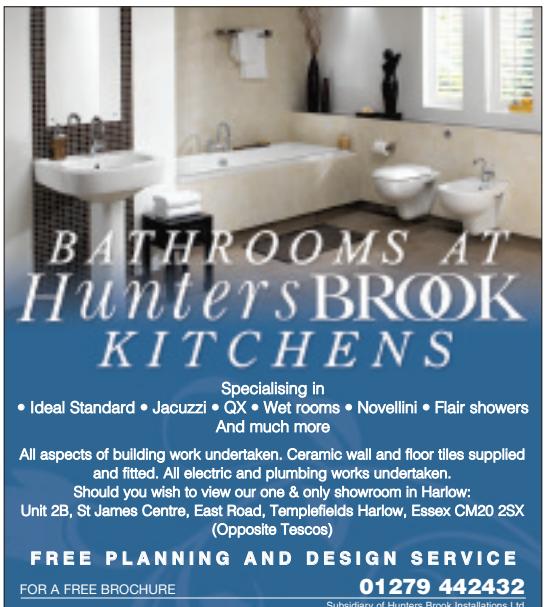

She said: "I really enjoy my work as a barista and have a good team of people that I work with.

"I entered the Barista of the Year competition because I'm proud of the skills I have acquired and I wanted to demonstrate them."

"The atmosphere of the competition is really good and I am very excited about taking part in the regionals."

She will be asked to pit her skills against six other competitors on Thursday, September 16 with the winner getting the chance to become Champion of Champions and win a holiday.

SAFE ARRIVAL: three-year-old Oliver Davies, who was also born with help from the Herts and Essex Fertility Centre, holds newborn sister, Evie

Bundles of joy for parents and IVF centre

A HARLOW couple have praised a local IVF centre after their newborn tot became the company's 300th success story.

Evie May Davies was born at Princess Alexandra Hospital, weighing 7lb 11oz, to proud parents Ian and Jane Davies, of Taylifers. She was conceived with the help of frozen embryo treatment at the Cheshunt-based Herts & Essex Fertility Centre. Her birth coincided with a new report from the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Authority, which showed the centre has the highest IVF success rate for patients aged under 35 in the East of England and London. The couple's first child, Oliver (3), was born following IVF treatment at the centre's Holly House Hospital. Dad Ian said: "Evie is absolutely fantastic.

"I've had two children in a previous relationship and it's still the greatest feeling in the world to be at the birth. I cried every time.

"We've been back to the centre to thank them. There's no doubt we wouldn't have had Evie without their help."

Killer jailed after throat knife slash

A LATVIAN knife killer who gained unrestricted entry to the UK – after being release from prison in her country – has been jailed indefinitely after slashing the throat of her “violent and controlling” partner at their home in Harlow.

Chelmsford Crown Court heard that Gunita Mitevica’s victim, Andreas Azubalis (33), had been “millimetres from death” following the savage knife attack at the couple’s home in Felmongers last September.

Mitevica admitted wounding with intent to cause grievous bodily harm and was jailed indefinitely “for public protection”, with a minimum of five years before parole can be considered.

The court heard that the 42-year-old had spent four years in jail in Latvia after stabbing a man to death in 1996.

After being released, she took advantage of European Union immigration rules to move to Glasgow before settling in Harlow last year.

Martyn Levett, prosecuting, said he had asked the UK Border Agency how someone so “heavily convicted” was able to enter the country without restriction.

Her latest victim had lived with Mitevica in Glasgow before the couple moved to Harlow in February last year, first living in Longbanks and then switching to a multiple occupancy house in Felmongers the day before the attack.

Mr Levett told the court: “Police were told by one witness that he had gone into the kitchen to make some food and he heard raised voices from the defendant’s room and then returned to his own room.

“A knock on his door was followed by the defendant going in with her hands covered in blood asking him to call the police.”

Mitevica told police Mr Azubalis had grabbed her by the throat and tried to kill her. He was on police bail at the time for assaulting her but she had told police she “wanted him back”, Mr Levett said.

Mitigating, Graham Brown told the court: “The victim was undeniably a violent man and controlling.”

Jailing Mitevica, Judge Christopher Ball told Mitevica: “You slashed your partner’s throat and the wound was severe – he must have been millimetres off losing his life if you’d succeeded in severing his artery.

“Fortunately, you didn’t and he survived.”

Brassy bash for David's 75th

THE veteran conductor of Harlow Brass Band will celebrate his 75th birthday next weekend with a special concert looking back on a musical career spanning 65 years.

David Sylvester, who has played an instrumental part in the continuing success of the renowned Harlow group, began his musical career during World War II and has been involved with brass bands since the age of 10.

Educated in music at Newport Grammar School,

David's career took off when he successfully auditioned for the Band of the Royal Engineers and performed on both radio and television.

An accomplished trumpet player and singer, he founded the Hallingbury Choir 20 years ago and has taught a number of junior brass groups over many years, seeing many of his past pupils join the ranks of professional musicians.

His celebratory mass band concert will be held at St John's ARC on Market Street, Old Harlow on Saturday September 18. The evening begins at 7.30pm and admission is free. Past band members interested in playing at the concert should contact Ronnie Sweeting on (07831) 849679 or email ron.63@tiscali.co.uk.

Half-marathon a first for ex-Star reporters

TWO former Star reporters will be swapping deadlines for finish lines when they run a half-marathon to raise money for international charities.

Joy Hale and Mark Fletcher are taking part in the gruelling Run to the Beat race in London on Sunday, September 26. And for

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

both it will be their first attempt at the distance.

Joy, of Radburn Close, Harlow, has been running shorter events in preparation including 10-mile runs in Harlow and Bishop's Stortford.

She caught the running bug eight years ago when she covered Cancer Research UK's first Harlow Race for Life for the Star.

"A few years ago I took part in races, and then left it for some time as other priorities took over," said Joy (31). "This year I took leave of my senses and was determined to get back into it, so I thought I'd challenge myself with a longer distance."

She will be raising cash for the World Society for the Protection of Animals which works to highlight animal cruelty and promote animal welfare.

"As a vegan, animal welfare is particularly important to me so I was really pleased when the charity accepted my application," she said. "I'd be so grateful if anyone interested in this very good cause would support me; do it for the animals!"

Former Star news editor Mark Fletcher (35), of Rectory Wood, Harlow, said he was looking forward to his first half-marathon.

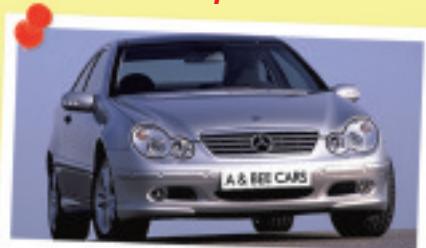

"I've been training hard and want to test myself to see how quickly I can do it," said Mark, who hopes to raise at least £300 for Oxfam. "It is a cause that is close to my heart," he said. "At the moment the work they are doing to help the victims of the floods in Pakistan is putting many governments to shame, but they also continue to help those affected by such tragic events as the earthquake in Haiti when the TV cameras have long since left."

Pals prepare for 40-mile trek

A RECRUITMENT consultant will be walking 40 miles from Old Harlow to London Bridge on Saturday to raise cash for Cancer Research UK.

Adrian Felsstead (42), pictured left, from High Wych, will set off at 6am from outside the Harlow Beefeater, heading for Roydon and following a route along the Lee Valley to London.

He has been preparing for the walk at Ripped Gym with friend Danny Ede (37), of Fesants Croft, Harlow, who will also be taking on the challenge.

The walk is expected to take at least 10 hours and the pair will be collecting cash of passers-by as they walk.

"I lost my grandmother to cancer and both Danny and I have lost friends to it too," said Adrian. "It's one of those things that will affect every one of us throughout our lives."

To sponsor the pair visit their webpage at www.justgiving.com/adrian-felsstead.

Street pastors will offer helping hand

A GROUP of specially trained street pastors will be patrolling Harlow town centre tomorrow evening (Friday) to help keep clubbers safe.

The group of 17 volunteers from churches across Harlow will be working closely with police, door staff and the CCTV control room.

But they are not there as extra security. Instead they are trained to help people who might be vulnerable, at risk or unwell.

"This is the church in action, not out preaching to people or trying to stop them having a good time but to support them, listen to them and keep them safe," said a spokesman.

"We will be working closely with other agencies so everyone can have a good time and enjoy their Friday nights out."

The volunteers, who will work in groups of up to six, will be supported by prayer warriors – people who will be praying for the street pastors as they work.

"We have a team of prayer warriors based in the town centre on duty at the same time we are as well as in their own homes," said the spokesman. "We believe we are only able to serve the people of Harlow because of the prayer team."

There will be a special commissioning service at St Paul's Church, in College Square, starting at 9pm. It will be led by Archdeacon Martin Webster and attended by Harlow MP Robert Halfon, senior police officers and Harlow Council officials.

Fun day to raise smiles for charity

A DAY of races and fun will be held at Mark Hall School's sport centre on Sunday to raise cash for a worthy cause.

There will be face painting, a barbecue, bouncy castle and stalls offering arts and crafts from 10.30am-3pm.

And from 11.30am there will be a 400 metre and a 2km race, both open to the public. Entry is £8 for adults and £4 for children.

Local TV celebrity Jeff Brazier will start the races.

All the cash will go towards the Harlow-based organisation The Silver Smile Foundation, a charity that provides special days for families dealing with cancer.

So far this year founder Sue Homan and seven other committee members have raised £5,000 – enough to enable it to register as a charity.

"I suffered from cancer a few years ago and I realised that, although there are charities offering breaks for children with cancer, there was nothing for the children whose parents have cancer," said Sue.

Lease deal hits hurdle over back-dated rent

HARLOW Council has reduced its "astronomical" lease demands for a local charity's HQ following intervention from the Star – but it still wants the cash-strapped Cornerstone Trust to fork out back-dated rent.

The trust had been told by the authority that the annual lease for its base in The Stow would jump from £5,500 to more than £13,000.

The inflation-busting hike threatened the future of the charity, which employs 20 people in the town and has this year alone helped 500 disadvantaged people.

But on Monday, following questions from the Star, the council reduced its rent demands to just over £10,000.

The trust has accepted the figure but is yet to sign the lease as the council is pushing for the rent increase to be back-dated to March and wants to impose an "unreasonable" break clause on the contract.

and training and support to improve clients' life and job skills.

It will need to raise £25,000 this year to continue offering its current level of service.

Last week, founding trustee John Lowry told the Star that the £13,000 figure was "astronomical" and said negotiations with the council had reached deadlock.

"The council is treating the situation as a normal commercial situation," said Mr Lowry. "They are not sensitive to the fact that we are a charity. Any agreement must be reasonable on our part.

"Has anybody told Harlow Council about Prime Minister David Cameron's Big Society?"

He added: "We're a huge success story. We would've expected our local council to support us given the work we do in the community but we don't have any funding from Harlow Council and haven't seen any routes to getting funding."

STILL IN LIMBO: staff at the Cornerstone Trust await a final agreement on the lease of the premises in The Stow. Harlow Council dropped its lease demand but still wants the charity to pay six months of back-dated rent.

Last week, executive committee member and resources policy working group chairman Cllr Simon Carter assured the Star that the new lease was "due to be signed shortly" and that "a new rent level has been agreed".

But this week he said:

"We look forward to continuing discussions with Cornerstone's appointed agents, and hope to reach agreement shortly."

Mr Lowry added: "Unfortunately things are not quite as rosy as Cllr Carter would like you to believe."

Have your say on council's shake-up plan

THE public consultation on proposed changes to Harlow Council's committee structure gets underway next week with the first in a series of public meetings.

Friday's forum will take place at 3.30pm at Harlow Civic Centre, followed by meetings on September 20 and 24 at the same venue.

The council is asking residents, businesses and local organisations whether it should retain its current committee system or switch to an executive model with a cabinet headed up by either a leader or directly-elected mayor.

A consultation leaflet will be distributed with the authority's Harlow Times magazine next week.

Views can also be submitted online at www.harlow.gov.uk/executiveconsultation or by email to executiveconsultation@harlow.gov.uk. The consultation finishes on Friday, October 1.

Council leader Andrew Johnson said: "We are giving the public a variety of ways in which they can have their say on this important issue.

"How we make decisions in future will be decided by how the town wants their council to work."

Soap and suds help fundraisers make a splash for hospice

THE madcap spirit of a hit 1980s TV show was rekindled last Thursday with an It's A Knockout-style fundraising bash for St Clare Hospice at Harlow Rugby Club. This year's event saw 14 teams from businesses around the Essex and Herts border navigate a series of foam and water-covered inflatable objects.

The result was a narrow win for Harlow Rugby Club Vets.

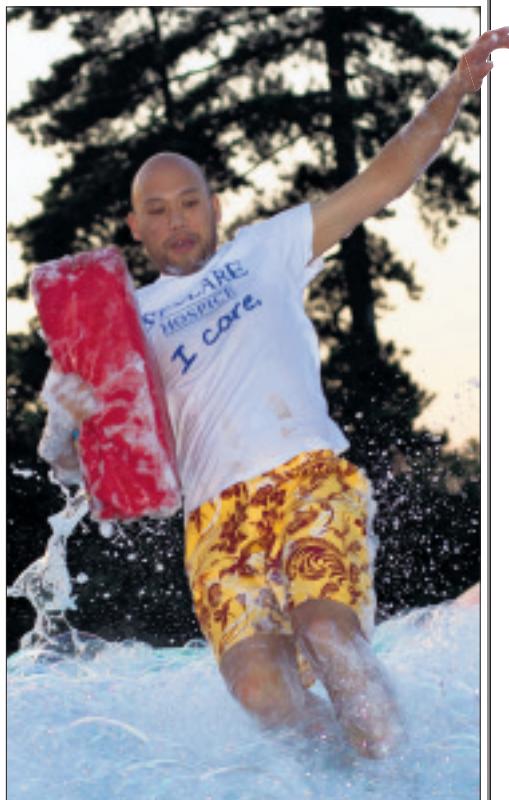

Clive Gillam, corporate fundraiser for the Hastinglewood-based charity, said: "Once again we had a fantastic event."

"Everybody seemed to really enjoy it, and we were really lucky with the weather which was great for both participants and spectators."

He added: "I think the event has now firmly established itself on our fundraising calendar.

"Thank you to all those who took part, and please maintain the momentum of your fundraising for us – we need your support!"

A little of your time can make a big difference

"An overnight stay can be as good as a weeks holiday. It gives me time for myself and time with my other children."

Choir man's bid to buck reading trend

By MAIYA KEIDAN
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

CELEBRITY choirmaster Gareth Malone is hoping to prove his talent for harnessing youngsters' untapped potential extends beyond their musical abilities in a new BBC programme filmed at a Harlow primary school.

Gareth Malone's Extraordinary School for Boys is focussed on the scholastic pursuits of the man who first made a name for himself on hit reality TV show, The Choir, where he set up singing groups in inner-city schools.

In his latest endeavour, Malone visits Pear Tree Mead School, on Trotters Road, and is challenged to improve the reading age of a class of 36 boys by six months in just eight weeks.

The school was chosen because it reflected a national trend, with boys consistently scoring lower in literacy than their female counterparts.

"The Choir tended to be about boys – or men," he said. "I find they often provide the most interesting points for debate."

"This was something I'd talked about, this discrepancy between boys and girls and the style of education they respond to, so I was really passionate about it."

Headteacher Chris Thurgood was eager to take part in the experiment.

"We'd identified the issue last year as something we planned to address," she told the Star.

"There are a lot of boys in the school who, for all sorts of reasons, haven't made the progress we'd expect, and certainly haven't made the same sort of progress as the girls, particularly in reading and writing."

She added: "I want them to achieve what they're capable of achieving – they deserve it."

Given more freedom than teachers under normal circumstances, but also

NEXT CHALLENGE: reality TV star Gareth Malone has been trying to improve the reading of pupils at Pear Tree Mead School in Harlow. His efforts will be screened on BBC Two from tonight. (photo: BBC) subject to the headteacher's scrutiny, Malone spent two weeks watching the children learn in mixed classes before applying his three key themes to a learning strategy – competition, immediacy and managed risk.

Although the results of Malone's efforts cannot be revealed until the final show in the three-part series is broadcast, some of his ideas are set to be integrated into a re-working of next year's curriculum.

He added: "The great thing with The Choir was that we had 100 boys on stage, all singing a song, and it looked like a miracle had happened.

"It's much harder with this because you're talking about an improvement in reading age – it's less tangible, it's slow. But the consequence is huge – there's much more at stake in this series: this is boys' lives and futures."

● The first show in the series airs on BBC Two tonight at 9pm and will continue in the same slot for the next two weeks.

Council prepares for changes in health provision

IEWS on the Government's proposals for the NHS are being sought by Harlow Council ahead of the publication of a White Paper on health reform.

The authority's scrutiny committee is looking at local health issues as part of a wider consultation and wants to hear from residents.

The coalition Government's proposals include: greater patient choice and control, the transfer of public health responsibilities from PCTs to local councils and the creation of a new patient watchdog.

A meeting will be held on Friday,

September 17 from 10am-1pm in the council chamber. The public are invited to attend and speak at the meeting if they wish.

Clr Tony Durcan, chairman of the council's scrutiny committee, said: "We want residents and local organisations who will be affected by the proposals to have their say and contribute to our review."

Residents can send their views to scrutiny@harlow.gov.uk or by letter to: The Chairman of the Scrutiny Committee, c/o Viv Kelly, Civic Centre, The Water Gardens, Harlow, CM20 1WG before September 24.

Book charting the history of town's council

By DAN PHILLIPS
 daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

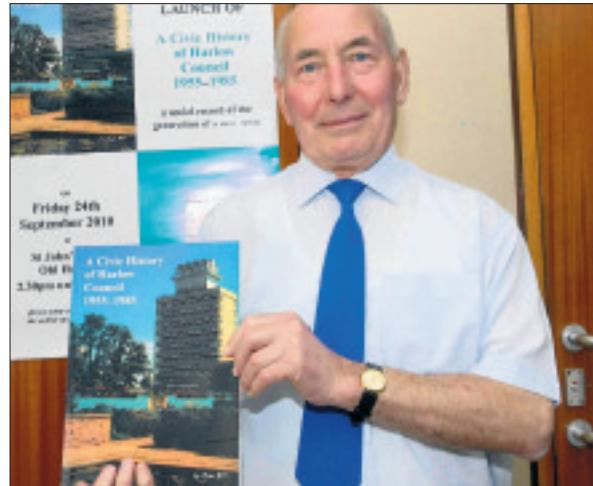

HOT off the press is a new book charting the first 30 years of Harlow Council by local historian Ron Bill.

The 208-page tome – A Civic History of Harlow Council 1955-1985 – gives a year-by-year account of the workings inside the authority. Mr Bill, of Upper Park, first came to the town with his wife Alice in 1956. He worked for both the Harlow Development Corporation and then the council and so is ideally placed to put together a civic, social and historical record of the authority.

He felt that while the achievements of the development corporation have already been well documented, the role of the council has largely been overlooked.

The book charts the authority's history from the time when Essex County Council's local government committee decided that the area's burgeoning population required an urban district council.

In 1955 the first councillors were elected to sit on the council and a clerk and treasurer were appointed. Mr Bill follows the story of the council for 36 years, by which time he notes that Harlow had become one of Britain's premier new towns recognised with international distinction and visited by planners and politicians from around the world.

HITTING THE SHELVES: local historian Ron Bill launches his latest book.

The idea for the book was born in 1985 during conversations between Mr Bill and the council's then general manager Harry Platt. Having completed the mammoth task recently, Mr Bill himself stumped up the cash so that the publication saw the light of day. "I'm very, very pleased with it," Mr Bill told the Star.

The book will be launched at a reception at St John's Arts and Recreation Centre in Old Harlow on Friday, September 24.

Everyone is welcome and the book will be available on the day at an introductory price of £10.

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: School trips

SCHOOL trips often last long in the memory and this photo records one such occasion for keen photographer David Jones.

It was taken by him on an old Box Brownie camera during a trip to his form at Netteswell School to the Isle of White in 1959.

Mr Jones (67), of Cooks Spinney, said: "It was a great time, the best thing that happened to us at school. "I was 16 and in fourth form at the time. It was the first time I ever rode a horse."

"Our form teacher, Mr McNish, was so involved with the class that he took it upon himself to arrange the holiday for the last week of school."

Between 20 and 25 pupils went on the trip, staying at youth hostels. Unfortunately, Mr Jones does not remember the names of those in the photograph or what happened to them.

After leaving school he worked for the Post Office and eventually became caretaker at Spinney School. He retired two years ago but is still keen on photography, although he now uses a digital camera rather than his trusty old Box Brownie!

If you can name any of the people in the photograph, write to Nostalgia, Harlow Star, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Police 'secrecy'

Harlow police have been accused of too much secrecy in their handling of a recent National Front march through the town. But a police chief said: "We were given 10 days notice; it's not our job to inform anybody."

Alarm saves office

Newly-installed smoke detectors have saved an office from serious damage after an arson attack. An alarm, which was fitted in the West Square office two days before the fire, was heard by a police officer on foot patrol.

Takeaway delight

Mobile takeaway food vans have been given the go-ahead to trade in the town. Harlow Council renewed nine licences despite complaints from restaurant owners about unfair competition.

Victorian show

Harlow Lions Club and the Old Harlow Traders' Association want to recreate the Victorian Fair which was once an annual event in the area. They hope it will renew public interest in the old town as well as raise funds for local charities.

Day to honour heroic airmen

By MAIYA KEIDAN
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE brave few who protected Britain's airspace from a Nazi onslaught will be remembered at a commemorative event marking the 70th anniversary of The Battle of Britain on Sunday.

Those attending the event at North Weald Airfield can enjoy fairground rides, face-painting, stalls and a selection of historic aircraft on display.

Russ Smith and Kevin Brougham, who have organised the day, said: "The aim is to bring together the community on our historic and still very active airfield to commemorate and remember those who fought for our freedom in the skies above our heads in the summer of 1940, while enjoying a fun day out for all."

North Weald is a fitting location for the family-friendly day – it was the base used by brave aviators who once protected British skies and the spot where Essex and Herts Air Ambulance crews now use to launch rescue missions.

Admission is £5 and free to those under 12 and over 65. The day's activities begin at noon and run until 4:30pm. Shuttle buses will run from the Airfield Museum in Hur-

Talks to highlight services

RESIDENTS can learn more about the work of Princess Alexandra Hospital at free health-care events.

PAH staff will give presentations highlighting recent service developments and explain new innovations for different departments.

The events will take place on September 22 in Harlow Civic Centre, September 28 at the Rhodes Centre in Bishop's Stortford and October 4 at Epping Forest District Council's headquarters in Epping.

The Harlow session will give a GP's insight on managing long term conditions and 21st century care in orthopaedics. The Hertfordshire event will focus on innovations in cardiac developments, and the final event will be on care closer to home and improvements in breast cancer care.

'Payback pays off for school'

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertssexnews.co.uk

THE headteacher of a Harlow school which has benefited from work completed by convicted criminals has hit back at the makers of a controversial ITV documentary criticising community punishments.

Critics of the community payback scheme told the Tonight programme that it had become a "holiday camp" for offenders guilty of crimes including assault, burglary and theft.

But Angela Callaway, head of Milwards Primary School, this week defended community sentences, claiming the school had benefited greatly from the unpaid work scheme.

Offenders have completed painting and fencing work, swept and weeded the grounds at the Paringdon Road school. A children's summer house has even been constructed without cost to the school.

Ms Callaway said: "We have used this service for three years and have always found the work to be of a high standard and invaluable to us as a school due to our extensive grounds.

The caretaker at Milwards has overseen this work and always commented on the hard work, dedication and close supervision of this work at the weekend, including tidying up after they have finished a job."

The documentary, which aired last week, claimed offenders were "doing nothing" for long periods while serving their sentences.

In other cases, offenders were left unsupervised and were even seen smoking cannabis when they should have been paying back their debt to society.

Essex Probation Service said that more than 250 schemes in the county were currently benefiting from the payback scheme, with courts ordering around £2 million-worth of free labour to be carried out in Essex last year alone.

The service also claimed 75 per cent of criminals given community sentences do not re-offend in the two years following sentencing, compared to less than a third of offenders who serve a short prison sentence.

Pete Mangan, Essex Probation Service's community payback director, said: "We are dealing with offenders, so some will obviously try to push the boundaries.

"But it's our job to make sure that standards are maintained, and we select our staff to make sure this happens. If we find any lax behaviour, we take action."

Troy's hair insured for $1,000,000

AN American football player has had his hair insured for $1million.

Pittsburgh Steelers defender Troy Polamalu, pictured below, is well-known for his enormous hair and features in television adverts for a brand of shampoo.

It was the manufacturers of the shampoo – Procter & Gamble – who decided to take out the policy worth £650,000 with world-famous insurance firm Lloyd's of London.

"They have created the first ever insurance policy to protect his iconic mane for the entire NFL season," said a Procter & Gamble spokesman said.

Polamalu (29) has not cut his hair since 2000 but he is not the only NFL player to sport flowing locks.

Long hair has become fashionable in the league, even though it is not against the rules to grab opponents' locks when tackling!

In 2008 the NFL's governing body considered making new rules requiring long hair to be kept under helmets to keep it from covering up the players' names on their shirts but the suggestion was rejected.

Firm signs up to regeneration

A FOOTBALL club in Nazeing has marked its recent resurgence with a new sign donated by a local firm.

The sign forms part of Nazeing Football Club's drive to regenerate the club's ground at Bumble's Green Leisure Centre with the support of the parish council - a partnership that has so far proved fruitful on and off the pitch.

Club co-owner Jerry

Griffin said: "We've been working with Nazeing Parish Council for 18 months and in our first full season won promotion and lost in the final of the divisional cup."

"The plan is for the team to do as well as possible and improve the facilities where we can."

Parish councillor Mark Frydrych added: "We're smartening up the area in time for the tournament on Nazeing Festival this Saturday and we're really looking forward to it."

The sign was donated by Boldens Signage Solutions, based in Hoe Lane. Owner Damien Boldens said: "Mark has got the community to work together and made us aware of how we could do our bit."

"I was involved in sport when I was younger and it kept me on the straight and narrow."

Money launder pair get prison

Duo's plan to launder money from raid 'not sophisticated'

TWO men caught laundering money stolen by armed raiders from a Harlow supermarket have been jailed for a total of over seven-and-a-half years.

Unemployed Barry Askew (52), of Mallows Green, Harlow, and Colin Garrod (42), a demolition worker from Basildon, both admitted three charges of money laundering after they were caught using notes stolen in the raid in betting shops in the Southend area.

Although Garrod also admitted possessing a sawn-off shotgun, armed robbery charges relating to the theft from Sainsbury's on Fifth Avenue in February last year were dropped amid identification problems, Basildon Crown Court heard.

Prosecutor Gerard Pounder told the court that a security guard was robbed of £25,000 cash at Sainsbury's on February 26 last year.

"His cash box had mechanism which, if not opened properly, sprays purple dye on notes," he added.

"At 4pm a box was found by a man walking his dog on wasteland in Epping. It was bleeping and police were called, retrieving it from a ditch.

"On March 5 the two defendants were seen together in Southend in the process of gambling with dye-stained notes."

The stolen notes were detected in a gambling machine and police and other betting shops were notified. Tippex had been used to "whiteout" the dye.

After going on to use the notes in Betfred's in Southend and Ladbrokes in Westcliff, they were arrested near the local railway station.

They had been gambling on machines which were not checked by staff and where winnings were handed over at the desk on production of a winning ticket.

Police later went to Garrod's home and found the shotgun in a toolbox and more dyed cash alongside bottles of Tippex. A total of £4,900 was seized.

Sean Minihan, mitigating for Askew, said his client had been owed £1,200 by Garrod and asked for the money after losing his job just before Christmas in 2008.

"He feels stupid but was desperate for the money – he knew it was from an illegitimate source but didn't know what source," Mr Minihan said.

"It was not large-scale money laundering and not sophisticated."

Graeme Wilson, for Garrod, said his client acted "naively and stupidly" after being given the gun by a man named Smith who had since died.

"Smith was in possession of the firearm and handed over approximately £5,000 and then asked Garrod if he would look after the gun, telling him if he could launder the money he could keep some of the proceeds," he told the court.

"There's no forensic evidence linking him to the gun itself – he took possession but never handled it and never touched it. He's been naive and incredibly stupid."

Jailing Askew for 21 months and Garrod for six years, Judge John Lodge said: "You played gambling machines to clean the money and it would be known to you it would be from criminal activity, a robbery or a sophisticated burglary."

The court heard that both men had previous convictions for robbery, with Askew receiving 12 years and Garrod a life sentence imposed at Chelmsford Crown Court in 1999 on which he had been recalled to prison.

No further details were given.

Deaths

PHYLLIS SPENCER

Beloved Mum, Grandmother, Great Grandmother and Great Great Grandmother who unexpectedly passed away at home on 6th September aged 87. Sadly missed.

Reunited with her beloved Husband Eric. *No farewell words were spoken
No time to say goodbye*

*You were gone before we knew it
And only God knows why*

*You have left us with a heartache
That nothing will ever heal
But your love leaves us a memory
That no one can ever steal*

*Our family chain has broken
And nothing will seem the same
But as God calls us one by one
Our chain will link again*

STARDOM AWAITS:

Gospel singer TJ Weekes.

Gospel singer's high hopes for a Lovely Day live on TV

A GOSPEL singer from Old Harlow will be flexing his vocal chords live on TV in a Sky1 talent contest on Sunday.

TJ Weekes and his fellow songsters in the CK Gospel Choir will be competing in the semi-final of Must be the Music on air from 7pm.

TJ (22), of The Hoo, is an apprentice carpenter but singing has always been a family affair.

"My brother is the director of the choir and as well as conducting auditions he recruited me and my sister because he knew we could sing," said TJ. "We've always sung in my family but I started taking it seriously when I was about 15."

Some 15 acts will compete for a place in the final of the singing competition which is searching the UK and Ireland for the best new musical acts.

The King's Cross-based choir will be performing Bill Withers' 'Lovely Day'.

The show's judges – Dizzee Rascal, Jamie Cullum and Sharleen Spiteri – will be casting their expert ears over their performances. But the final decision will be down to a public vote.

"I'm not nervous now," said TJ. "But I may be just before the show – that's a good thing though. When we get out on stage I'll be fine."

Man cleared of assaulting girls

A 47-YEAR-OLD Harlow man accused of indecently assaulting three young girls over a 15-year period has been found not guilty by a jury.

Michael Smith, of Bercroft, had denied committing 11 offences of indecent or sexual assault, claiming the alleged victims had fabricated their allegations.

On the sixth day of the trial and after a three-hour deliberation, the jury at Chelmsford Crown Court unanimously acquitted Mr Smith on all charges.

He had been found not guilty of one charge of indecent assault during the hearing on the formal direction of the judge. The offences were said to have occurred between 1991 and 2006.

Mr Smith wiped a tear from his eye as the foreman announced the panel's decisions. He was discharged by Judge David Turner QC.

It was claimed the alleged abuse came to light when one of the girls took an overdose, aged 14, on New Year's Eve 2008 and made the allegations to a social worker. The prosecution had claimed the other two alleged victims then came forward.

But he told jurors he had never sexually touched the girls and they were lying.

Asked why, he replied: "I cannot give any explanation at all."

He said that allegations by one of the girls might have set the ball rolling and the other two "jumped on the bandwagon".

The complainants are now aged in their teens and 20s. One count related to the oldest female, six counts to the second oldest and four counts to the teenager.

Mustard gas bomb was dummy device

BOMB disposal experts have confirmed that a mustard gas bomb handed in at a Sawbridgeworth pub is a harmless practice device.

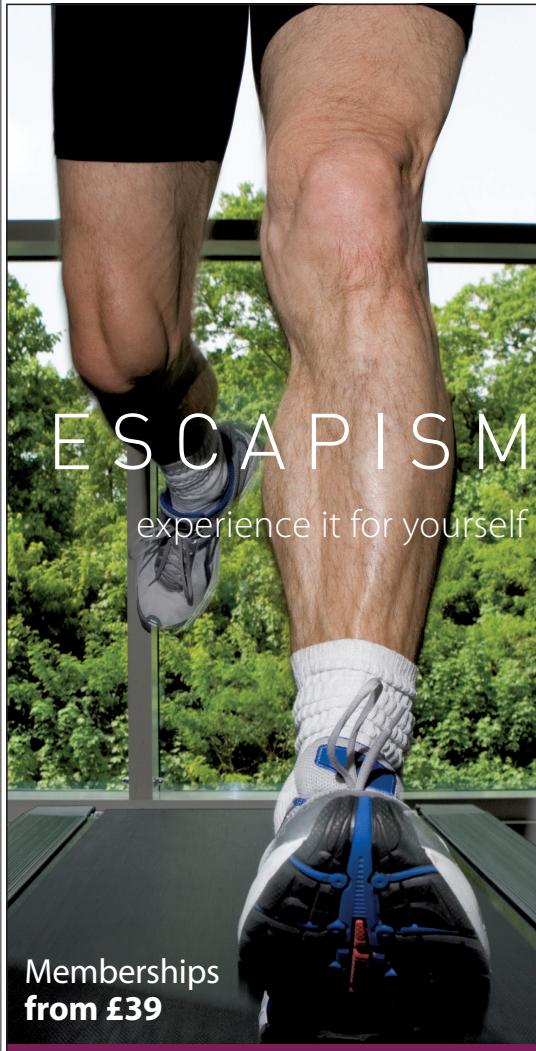

The Three Horseshoes was closed for more than an hour on Tuesday night amid fears that the "bomb" sitting on the bar was live.

Landlord Keith Mawer said it probably dated from the First World War. It had been given to him by a foreign metal detectorist who was part of a large group which searched a field behind his West Road premises a week ago.

It was handed over as a memento along with a bullet and Mr Mawer was about to have it sanded and painted before putting it on display when another customer, who he said was an expert in munitions, advised him the device was still live.

Police closed the pub at 5.30pm and it was reopened when the all clear was given at 6.45pm.

Members of the bomb disposal team will collect the practice device within the next few days.

Youngsters perform a treat for ballet lovers

REVIEW

Harlow Ballet Association Summer Spectacular
The Playhouse, Harlow

THE latest offering from Harlow Ballet Association was as varied, dynamic and lively a dance programme as anyone could want.

The styles varied from the most classical of classical ballets, through modern ballet to contemporary dance and an excerpt from the musical Hairspray.

The energy and commitment of the dancers was amazing but where was the audience?

The performance I attended was only about a third full and I wanted to cry for the young people, giving their all for us. The standard and presentation of their work was so high it deserved to be a sell-out! The advance publicity claimed that the Choreographic Competition would be the high spot of the show. There were seven dances of a very good standard to choose between and I have no argument with the eventual winner - Faces Going Places, an amusing short piece set in a railway station, choreographed by 15-year-old Charlotte Wightwick.

I also thoroughly enjoyed Jessica Gudgeon's very unusual take on the Orphans from Annie. It's surprising the orphanage survived their rage!

But all seven pieces were so good they more than justified Harlow Ballet's belief in encouraging new choreographers.

Most of the second part was taken up with Impressions of Inuyasha, which Cassandra Jacobs from London's celebrated Chelsea Ballet had come to Harlow to choreograph.

This resembled a Japanese version of the first part of The Lord of the Rings as a group of companions (Paul Tarling, Jessica Gudgeon, Hamish Scott, Lydia Ventre and Sam Whittome) set out to fight Evil, personified by an ingenious life-sized five-person dragon puppet (Emily Bird, Sally Brown, Brontë Davis-Horrey, Roisin Kennedy and Bethany Wilson-Chapman) created by the wicked Lord Naraku (Stefan Donovan). The dragon was quite enchanting and the puppeteers danced with amazing neatness while handling the five parts with precision.

There were all sorts of romantic twists and turns, but the overall impression I had of Inuyasha was of a strong, coherent dance drama that I would love to see again.

All in all, this was a wonderful evening's entertainment. But where, oh where, was the audience?

Rosemary Caswell

Am-dram troupe in town with popular farce

AN award-winning amateur dramatic group will be hoping to raise the roof at Harlow Playhouse next week.

Hot on the heels of hugely successful runs of Michael Frayn's Noises Off across the UK, local am-dram favourites Global Productions will present a new production of the hilarious hit at the Harlow theatre from September 16-18.

One of the most consistently popular farces ever staged, Noises Off gives a warts-and-all look backstage as members of a hapless theatre troupe turn on each other as they attempt to put on a Carry On-style comedy. A smash hit on its debut in 1982, the critically-acclaimed play was revived in 2000 to huge acclaim at the National Theatre and played in the West End for two years before moving to Broadway.

Cast member Richard Holliss said rehearsals had been challenging but extremely rewarding.

"It's highly enjoyable," he said. "It's such a clever, fresh script which is why we've been enjoying it so much."

"Noises Off allows the cast to play two characters, one of whom is the actor while the other is the character they play. As the play progresses the line between those two characters blurs as all the chaos comes to a head.

"We've really had the chance to get our teeth into Michael Frayn's script and are looking forward immensely to performing the play on the Playhouse main stage. It will raise the roof!"

Tickets for Noises Off are £14 each (£12 concession). Groups of 10 or more can get tickets for £10, as can members of The Playhouse Supporters Club.

certificate 15 111mins

A NEW life in the country is a messy business in Stephen Frears's rollicking comedy, based on Posy Simmonds's much-loved graphic novel. Shot on location in Dorset during an unseasonably hot spell last October, Tamara Drewe chronicles one turbulent year in the life of a young woman struggling to come to terms with the death of her mother.

Screenwriter Moira Buffini draws inspiration from Simmonds's illustrations to sketch finely detailed characters complete with moral flaws, retaining the spirit of the book. Gemma Arterton is perfectly cast as London newspaper journalist Tamara, who returns to the cosy village of Ewedium to sell her late mother's cottage. Blessed with a cosmetically sculpted new nose and a sense of style that sets her apart from her wellington boot-clad neighbours, Tamara turns heads.

She hires childhood sweetheart and handyman, Andy Cobb (Luke Evans), to oversee repairs while encouraging lustful glances from celebrated thriller writer and serial philanderer, Nicholas Hardiman (Roger Allam), who treats his wife Beth (Tamsin Greig) like a skivvy.

Temper flares when Tamara begins dating Ben Sergeant (Dominic Cooper), drummer and driving force behind rock band Swipe. In particular, schoolgirl Jody (Jessica Barden) and Casey (Charlotte Christie), who are obsessive fans of Ben, harbour dreams of stealing the rock God away from Tamara.

Meanwhile, Beth enjoys compliments from American scholar Glen (Bill Camp). Allam's adulterer elicits pantomime boos with every act of treachery and Greig tugs the heartstrings with a tour de force performance as a down-trodden cuckold. Cooper gets lost in the mix, while the double act of potty-mouthed youngsters Barden and Christie pickpocket all the best exchanges, including a quip about teapot lids that might just be one of the lines of the year.

Supporters prop up predictable plot line

ABSENCE makes the heart grow fonder, which should bode well for Nanette Burstein's romantic comedy about a couple forced to conduct a long distance relationship on opposite coasts of America. Casting on-off real-life couple Drew Barrymore and Justin Long also adds a frisson and there is palpable screen chemistry between the characters when they share the same time zone.

However, cute as the lead stars may be, Geoff LaTulippe's screenplay doesn't serve them well, and the only distance his writing goes is sluggishly from A to B.

Moreover, since the lovers spend so much time apart, supporting players play a vital role in maintaining our interest, catalysing the comic interludes between telephone calls. After a while, we begin to think they have a point when they tell the long distance lovers to stop wasting their time on a relationship that will ultimately go nowhere. Both characters seem to invest a lot of time and energy into a relationship that arouses more jealousy and resentment than satisfaction. Christina Applegate is marvellous as the mother hen, who doesn't want to see her baby sister get hurt again. First-time screenwriter LaTulippe clearly signposts his intentions, so we know where the relationship is heading and can even predict the final scene well before the film contrives it.

GOING THE DISTANCE

>>DINNER FOR SCHMUCKS

Tim Conrad is an ambitious financial analyst desperate to ascend to the executive offices. He seizes his chance during a meeting with his firm's boss, revealing that he has wooed a potential new client. Fender is impressed and he invites Tim to his monthly top-secret dinner where everyone brings along a very special companion. "You invite idiots to dinner and make fun of them?" By chance, Tim runs into Internal Revenue Service employee Barry Speck (Steve Carell), who creates mouse-terpieces: miniature, hand-made panoramas featuring costumed, dead rodents in romantic poses. Tim feels certain that he has found the biggest idiot of them all.

>>THE LAST EXORCISM

Reverend Cotton Marcus tends to his flock in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, but he has slowly lost his faith and has decided to expose the smoke and mirrors he uses to conduct fake exorcisms. He travels to Ivanwood with director Iris and her cameraman to meet farmer Louis Sweetzer, who believes that his daughter Nell is possessed. Cotton conducts the fake exorcism and both Louis and Nell believe the evil spirit has been purged from her body. Soon after, events spiral out of control and Cotton is forced to return to the Sweetzer homestead.

>>THE LAST AIRBENDER

(3D) Orphaned siblings Sokka and Katara discover a young boy called Aang frozen in the ice near their village, covered in strange tattoos and the siblings surmise that Aang must be the Avatar, destined to manipulate the four elements (air, water, earth, fire). No sooner have the children arrived back at their village than outcast Prince Zuko from the Fire Nation and his soldiers capture Aang and hold him hostage aboard their ship.

>>SCOTT PILGRIM VS THE WORLD Scott Pilgrim (Michael Cera) must defeat his new girlfriend's seven evil exes in order to win her heart.

>>GROWN UPS After their high school basketball coach passes away, five good friends and former teammates reunite for a holiday weekend. Stars Adam Sandler, Chris Rock and Kevin James.

>>MARMADUKE A suburban family moves to a new neighbourhood with their large yet lovable Great Dane, who has a tendency to wreak havoc in his own oblivious way.

>>TOY STORY 3 (3D & 2D)

The toys are mistakenly delivered to a day care centre instead of the attic right before Andy leaves for college and it's up to Woody to convince the other toys that they weren't abandoned and to return home.

>>kids club

>>FURRY VENGEANCE A housing developer faces the wrath of the local wildlife population when he plans to cut down their woodland homes and build a shopping centre.

>>ASTRO BOY When a scientist's young son dies, he secretly creates a powerful robot child to replace him, Astro. The robot soon uses his incredible powers to become a world famous super-hero and faces his biggest challenge when an alien race threatens Earth.

Honda hybrid for head and heart

ON the hybrid technology front, Honda has charted a slightly different path to its main rival, Toyota.

Instead of offering buyers the ability to run a car completely on battery power, Honda's Integrated Motor Assist technology predictably assists the car's petrol engine but never acts as a substitute.

The end result is a lighter, more compact package as there's no heavy lifting, battery-only driving to be done. It also means there's no need for a big petrol engine if it's regularly receiving assistance from an electric motor.

All this talk of light weight and lean construction wouldn't be out of place if the subject matter was a sports car. Until now, hybrids have been worthy, fuel-sipping machines for those seeking to save money, petrol and the planet. But what if you could have it all: economy, low emissions and fun?

According to Honda, now you can. Its rakish CR-Z offers a slightly different take on hybrid motoring and is pitched at a more youthful audience seeking the benefits we're all familiar with plus the enjoyment you get from running a warmed-over compact hatchback.

The CR-Z boasts the looks and the performance to satisfy both your head and your heart. It's

FACTfile

Honda CR-Z 1.5i V-TEC GT

PRICE from £19,999 on the road

ENGINE 1.5-litre petrol unit combined with electric motor TRANSMISSION 6-speed manual driving the front wheels
PERFORMANCE 0-62mph in 9.9 seconds / top speed 124mph
ECONOMY 56.5mpg
CO₂ EMISSIONS 117g/km

even been designed with a very sporting two-plus-two seating arrangement, confirming that the real focus is on front seat occupants.

Unusually for a hybrid, the raw data only tells half the story. Other more eco-focused models might trump the CR-Z's economy and emissions figures (56.5mpg, 117g/km CO₂) but the little Honda's on-road performance (9.9 seconds to 62mph, 124mph top speed) is right up there with more conventional alternatives.

And remember, this is a hybrid that's been tuned for fun, making the car's 1.5-litre, 114 horsepower engine and motor combo all the more impressive.

Just to prove Honda is deadly serious about pitching the CR-Z as a sporty model, it has fitted the wedge-shaped car with a conventional six-speed manual gearbox. No slush-box auto here, and in true Honda fashion the shifter is super-short and slick just like that of a Civic Type R. And even with three pedals you still get an auto engine stop-start function as standard.

On the road the CR-Z offers drivers a firm yet engaging experience. You sit low down in the car, further enhancing its racy appeal, and corners can be attacked with considerable enthusiasm. And it's when you're pressing on that the extra assistance from the car's electric motor makes a valuable contribution.

That overtaking manoeuvre or uphill sprint is easily despatched with the aid of some additional electric power. We're not talking warp-factor acceleration here, but just enough to see your pace quicken a few notches.

The situation is further enhanced by the car's sport mode which channels even more electric power if you want to throw caution – and economy – to the wind. It's in this mode that the CR-Z is at its most entertaining and makes you wonder how conservative those on-paper performance figures really are.

Take the opposite approach by selecting the car's economy mode and you'll instantly experience a more conservative throttle response. Ideal for low stress urban motoring, it's now that it should appeal to your greener side.

Keeping you in the loop when switching between modes is the car's array of predictably futuristic instruments and displays. The CR-Z wouldn't be a hybrid Honda if the speedometer didn't glow red if you used too much throttle, for example.

Overall there are parallels with Civic's interior, as the gently curving fascia, outstanding build quality and clear (if a little wacky) displays should make Honda fans feel at home. On balance, the CR-Z delivers a better real world performance than its figures suggest possible. The modest range offers buyers a trio of well equipped cars to choose from, while the CR-Z is surprisingly practical for what is in reality – a two-seat coupe for grown-ups. Cabin storage space plus a sizable boot and rear folding seats ensure daily life doesn't have to be a compromise. Although a brave move from Honda – a sporty hybrid is something of an oxymoron – the CR-Z performs well in the context of delivering thrills at a time when saving money and fuel have become the dominant activities.

Styling the car like something from the 25th century is further proof that Honda remains a risk-taker, which should be applauded.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Depleted Rams need good start says Harron

LEE Harron is hoping his depleted Rams can rise to the occasion and beat promoted Old Stretonians in their London division two north east opener this Saturday.

Harron (36), director of rugby at Harlow, is missing experienced loose head prop James Ephgrave (shoulder injury). He is expected to be out for the whole season.

Skipper Scott Romaine, who can play in the front row or a flanker, is on holiday in the USA for the next four weeks.

Rob Mackie, who can play at wing or full-back, is set to take over the captaincy.

Young scrum-half Charlie Woodington is away for two weeks on holiday. I might have to play at scrum-half?" said Harron. "We do not know much about Stretonians. They have had two consecutive promotions and come from the Hackney area."

"It's imperative we get a good start. We have two strong fixtures after that in Saffron Walden and Enfield Ignatians."

He added: "We have young players such as James Lewis and Martin Cunningham who can come in for James Ephgrave. James may have to have an operation and could be out for the season."

Harron has been unable to strengthen his squad but hopes youngsters such as Lewis Alderman (fly-half/full-back) and Terry Blackwell (lock) will do well.

"I would have liked to bring in two forwards and a back but we do have experience with the likes of Paul Eynon, Paul Prindiville and Michael Dobson."

Harlow's pre-season programme has recorded defeats against a strong Blackheath Academy side and against Letchworth (who play a division higher than the Rams), before they lost 15-12 at Hampstead last Saturday. Eynon scored one of the tries and Dobson kicked a conversion.

Golds a sweetener at Tate & Lyle meet

THREE golds were picked up by young Harlow-based athletes in their final track and field meeting of 2010.

In the U-15 boys, Joshua Steel (13) won the long jump (4.65m, PB) and gained a silver in the high jump (1.59m, PB) at the prestigious Tate & Lyle competition at Newham Stadium in East London.

Molly Gardner (9) won the U-11 girls 600m (2 mins 13 secs).

In the U-13 girls 1,500m, Alicia McArdell won in 5:35 while Sky Mulvey was 2nd in 5:51.

Amelia Barrett (13) won the U-15 girls 1,500m race (5:30).

Lewis Harknett gained silver in the U-11 boys 600m (2:00.6), while Lauren Barker was 2nd in the U-11 girls 600m (2:16.7, PB) and Millie Smith was 3rd in the U-11 girls 150m.

In the U-13 boys 800m, Joe Bailey (12) was 2nd in 2:47 and in the same age group, Jamie Rushworth (11) was 2nd (5:45, PB).

Slav Ribstuk was 2nd in the U-15 boys long jump (4.65m), while Eleanor Moss (U-15 girls) was 3rd in the shot (5.87m) and javelin (18.88m).

Third spots went to Christian Barker in the U-11s long jump (3.12m), Jamie Rushworth in the U-13 boys long jump (3.90m), Millie Smith in the U-11 girls long jump (3.32m) and Eloise Lott in the U-13 girls long jump (4.00m).

EX-FOOTBALLER LOOKS BACK ON CAREER IN THE PRO GAME

By DAVID RIMMER
david.rimmer@hertsessexnews.co.uk

FORMER Crystal Palace, Millwall and Leyton Orient footballer Peter Burridge, from Old Harlow, will be remembered as a skilful ex-professional during the swinging 60s in London.

He enjoyed a spell at Harlow Town before signing for Bishop's Stortford in the 1950s, when he hit an astonishing 62 goals in 76 games – and all from the left wing!

Burridge, now a trim and fit 76, can look back with pride on his football career.

He played for Harlow before their move to the Sportcentre when the club was based near his home in Old Harlow.

After flourishing in non-League he earned a move to Millwall, via Leyton Orient, and won the old Fourth Division Championship with Millwall in 1962.

For Bishop's Stortford he taunted defences in the Delphian League, delighting the faithful at Blues' old ground at Rhodes Avenue.

Born in Old Harlow, Burridge's love of sport was nurtured from an early age.

"I just loved playing sport whether it was football or cricket. Football is just natural, you just play it but cricket is more technical," he said.

Aged 13, he is believed to have been the youngest ever player to feature for Stortford's reserves.

Burridge's attempt to recall this is hazy, but he has vivid memories of a Wembley experience for Essex U-15s.

"We beat Middlesex [2-1] in my only ever game at Wembley. It was fantastic. Middlesex had the likes of Peter Baker and Bobby Smith [who went on to become legends of the Spurs Double-winning side]."

Burridge left Fawbert and Barnards School in Harlow at the age of 15 and worked in the building trade before national service as the RAF beckoned when he was at 18 (in 1952).

He played for Harlow Town before he was 20, and then switched to Walthamstow Avenue.

"It was not easy getting to Walthamstow. You had to go by bus and it would take time," he said.

Burridge spent five years in the RAF, restricting his football career.

"I was not the most natural footballer, but I could run, shoot well and was a good header of the ball," he said.

"I was just a good amateur. If you did not make it as a pro you were banned from amateur football sine die, although there were leagues for players who did not make the grade professionally."

Burridge, who had appeared for Hitchin Town around 1952, was brought to Stortford by then manager

ON THE PITCH: Millwall's Peter Burridge puts Aldershot keeper David Jones under pressure at The Den in October 1961 (s). Below, Peter Burridge today

'I swapped shillings for a Crystal ball'

Jock Elliott, a no-nonsense man from the North East.

"Jock Elliott came to my parents' house in Old Harlow on a Sunday saying he wanted to sign me," Burridge said.

Burridge remembers his first wage from Stortford. "It would only be shillings or old pence. It was a pittance," he said.

Burridge played for Stortford while he was stationed at Ridgewell (Essex), Bicester (Oxfordshire) and Cosford (Shropshire).

"I remember George Wilson, the chairman, used to come and pick me up in Ridgewell in his old Rover," said Burridge.

"George was not afraid to go out and do work on the ground."

He added: "I remember the ground at Rhodes Avenue being full. It was the event of the week and all the players were local. Ken Yates [a forward] was good enough to be a pro and Sid Sullivan was a very good keeper.

"There was a good social side and you had a meal and a chat afterwards. You would not have that in the pro game as that was your job and you had seen each other all week."

Burridge, who still lives in West Essex, left Stortford to join non-League Barnet alongside fellow Blue

Jimmy Duncan, and from there he moved into the pro game with a switch to Leyton Orient in the old Second Division.

He said: "I had played for West Brom's A side when I was in the RAF and when I joined [Leyton Orient] in Easter 1958 I remember thinking it was important and that if they wanted to sign me I must have something. In my first game in December '58 I scored a goal in the first minute and I thought this was the big time."

He played six first team games at Brisbane Road.

"Orient had a reputation of not letting players come through the system. Players would be replaced from outside."

He then dropped two divisions to join Millwall in 1960 where Burridge was the first player in 30 years to score more than 30 goals in a season. He won promotion at The Den in 1962.

"I was put straight in the first team and did really well in the first season. It was also nice to win something and do well," Burridge said.

"I was captain in the last few games but they would only offer an extra £2 per week and this was at the time when the £20 per week limit had been lifted. I was off [to Crystal Palace]."

He enjoyed a rise to £30 per week – a significant sum in those days – and looks back on his Palace days with the most fondness.

"Arthur Rose [manager of Tottenham's famous push-and-run side in 1951] was there then and we tried to play push and run but it was not always successful. I remember scoring four goals in a friendly that we won 6-2 against Spurs. It was a very good feeling as Spurs had the likes of [Dave] Mackay and [Danny] Blanchflower," he said.

"I remember scoring my best ever goal when we beat Notts Forest [3-1] in the FA Cup with a strike from the edge of the box into the corner. I got left out for the next game against Leeds and I was really disappointed. We lost 3-0. People were saying 'where is Burridge'?"

A subsequent move to Charlton Athletic was not so successful and he ended up at left half.

Burridge then drifted out of the pro game and played for Bedford Town.

Unlike modern footballers who can set themselves up for life by the end of their playing days, Burridge turned to the pub trade to earn a living for the next 20 years, running the The Bull pub in Sawbridgeworth.

"It was hard work running a pub," he said.

He retired 10 years ago and plays golf and certainly looks trim for his age. Still mentally sharp, just as he was inside the box all those years ago at Rhodes Avenue.

Harlow went down to 10 men after Stewart's sending off. Swifts failed to score from the resulting free-kick.

Centre-half Jon Stevenson, returning from a ban, and experienced forward James Bunn came on in the latter stages as Harlow held onto a valuable three points.

With 12 points from a possible 15, Hawks boss Kevin Warren has been understandably delighted by a run which has lifted his side up to third. "It's been great. I couldn't ask for anything more," he said.

Trio qualify for GB Junior Judo Champs

PLAYERS from Harlow Judo Club competed at the Northern Home Counties trials last weekend.

The area trials saw the top players from Bedfordshire, Berkshire, Buckinghamshire, Essex, Hertfordshire, Middlesex and Oxfordshire competing for a place in the NHC area squad.

A top four position in each weight and age category would enable the players to represent their region at the British Junior Championships, to be held at Sheffield in October.

Harry Forbes qualified after securing first place in the over 66kg 12-13 years category.

He will be joined by Harlow club-mate Brooke Cranham, who was second in the +63kg 12-13 years section.

Andrew Fry also qualified. He was 4th in the under 50kgs 14-15 years category.

Winger Loui Riddle is banned and right-back Mark Taylor is out for a month (groin injury).

Harlow's other absences include: left-back Sam Taylor (who requires a double hernia operation), midfielder Andy Porter (shoulder, out for three weeks), defender Danny Chapman (swollen ankle) and utility player Shaun Gliddon (bruised ankle).

Central defender Reece Yorke (on loan from Barnet) is out as his side don't want him Cup tied.

However, winger Andre Modeste-Humphrey and central midfielder Getro Kilapi have been given permission by Billericay to play.

Leaders beat Harlow

HARLOW lost 2-1 at Herts Squash League division two leaders Borehamwood.

Ian Gould won 3-1 (16-14, 7-15, 15-7, 16-14) to get the first team off to a flyer.

But Mike Symmons (8-15, 15-13, 9-15, 13-15) and Andy Davis (13-15, 12-15, 4-15) both lost their matches.

Harlow's second team beat local rivals Bishops Stortford 2-1 at home in division 4.

Hawks cut down Forest

Harlow Tn 3, Waltham Forest 1
Ryan League, div one north

HAWKS had a new look as they firmly put behind them their 5-0 debacle at Enfield Town to maintain their 100 per cent home record this term.

Chad Stadhart struck twice as Harlow Town – who had six new players in their 16-man squad – dispatched Tony Mercer's Waltham Forest.

Four new players started as Harlow overcame a crisis which had claimed seven players to either injury or suspension.

England Schoolboy international Reece Yorke [on a month's loan from Barnet] played alongside Hornchurch duo Donny Barnard (a right-back) and Paul Shave (central midfield). Loan recruit Andre Modeste-Humphrey also started on the right wing.

Harlow dominated possession in the first half but lacked a clinical edge.

The game burst into life after the break when Harlow hit the woodwork twice in the opening four minutes.

Yorke's goal-bound header from Ben Bradbury's corner was nodded onto his own bar and away by Forest's Luke Stanley.

Two minutes later Bradbury was unmarked inside the box and drilled home a left-foot strike which hit the left upright.

Hawks boss Kevin Warren sent on two more new recruits just past the hour and this tactical move really did the trick. Ex-Grays Athletic midfielder Dave Cowley has a touch of class about him and he joined loan signing Getro Kilapi (from Billericay) in the centre. Harlow took the lead on 67 minutes when Modeste-Humphrey's brilliant cross was headed over the visitors' keeper and into the top left corner by Stadhart.

Two minutes later Barnes forced a brilliant save from Forest keeper Jason Willis on 75 minutes.

But Harlow were stung on 80 minutes when Forest levelled with their only real chance.

A quick through ball put Lawrence Yiga clear. Hawks keeper James Hasell hesitated and this gave Yiga the chance to out-pace Laurie Stewart and hammer the ball into the bottom right corner.

Warren said: "We turned it into a catastrophe and made a mistake. There was a big long clearance and we did not deal with it. Then we were back in the battle."

Undeterred, Harlow went back in front two minutes later.

Stewart headed Barnard's free-kick from the right across goal and Stadhart met this at the opposite post and headed into the top right corner. It was his fifth goal in five competitive starts.

The hosts wrapped up the points a minute into stoppage time when the hard-working Modeste-Humphrey somehow scrambled the ball across the danger zone to Sosthene Yao and he showed great composure to take the ball around a defender before firing into the top right corner.

Warren added: "The boys believed in themselves. They carried on playing and passing and we got the second. I did not believe they would equalise again."

HARLOW TN: Hasell 6, Barnard 6, Barnes 4, Stewart 6, Yorke 7, Wheeler 5 (Cowley 6), Shave 6 (Kilapi 6), Bradbury 7, Yao 6, Stadhart 6, MODESTE-HUMPHREY 8 (Bunn 90). Subs not used: Velandia, Madden (gk) Att: 224.

Joy of six signings a turning point for HTFC

COMMENT by ALAN SCOTT

WHAT a difference a year makes at Harlow Town FC.

This time last year the club was virtually bankrupt.

Twelve months ago a temporary generator supplying electricity because the mains supply had been cut off, packed up forcing the referee to abandon the Hawks' home league game against Concord Rangers.

Fast forward a year and Harlow had a player crisis on their hands with FIVE players injured and TWO more suspended.

But Harlow don't want to lose ground in the promotion race in Ryman division one north.

According to co-owner Tom Cunningham, the side simply MUST go up to the premier division this season.

So, SIX new players were named in the 16-man squad for Saturday's 3-1 victory over Waltham Forest.

A year ago the cash-crippled club were bringing in players off the Hackney Marshes! This season money talks and Harlow can attract Football League players, as well as those with Blue Square South and Ryman premier experience.

The arrival of England Schoolboy international Reece Yorke was arguably the most eye-catching. The 17-year-old centre-half has signed on a month's loan from Npower League Two side Barnet. Hawks boss Kevin Warren said: "He's a strong lad. The good thing is he grew up in non-League [at Wealdstone]. He is comfortable on the ball and he can be a threat at set-pieces."

Meanwhile, two players have joined permanently from Hornchurch: experienced midfielder Paul Shave and ex-Leyton Orient right-back Donny Barnard.

Winger Andre Modeste-Humphrey has signed on a month's loan from Billericay and the 25-year-old was the fourth new signing handed a debut against his old club, Waltham Forest. He excelled, and set up two of the goals.

On the bench was another month-long loan recruit from Billericay. Central midfielder Getro Kilapi came on as a second-half sub.

He was joined in the middle by the final new permanent signing, Harlow-based Dave Cowley.

The former Grays Athletic player has honed his game at the Glenn Hoddle Academy in Spain and his touch and finesse on the ball were a breath of fresh air on Saturday. Warren was delighted with all his debutants. "I needed a central midfield player and a wide man. Craig Edwards [the Billericay manager] said [Andre and Getro] would do me a good job. We have got them for a month. They have played at this level before. Andre worked hard today. He got up and down and caused them problems. He was a big bonus."

"Paul Shave is versatile. He will work hard in the middle and is effective. I'm pleased to get him on board. With Donny, we needed a right-back. Donny's pretty solid. I will get decent games out of him week in, week out."

Encouraging start for brand new side

INTRODUCING the first of our new weekly columns from Hawks captain Leo Roget.

WE have pretty much got a brand new squad and together with the permanent appointment of manager Kevin Warren, it's fresh faces all round.

I think this is a good thing for the club and all being well we can move forward after what has been a difficult time for the club in the last couple of seasons.

We have had a very encouraging start to the campaign, winning 5 out of 6 games.

Generally speaking all the boys have settled in well and we're pleased.

There is still room for improvement and the boys are still getting used to playing together on the pitch but if we continue to progress the way we have up to now, the season looks promising and should be enjoyable for all.

We are all looking forward to the FA Cup game on Saturday. The FA Cup is a special competition and we would like to progress as far as we can this season.

We play Bethnal Green and having played them in pre-season, losing 3-1, it's a result we would like to reverse.

Personally it will be tough and go whether I will be back fit enough to play on Saturday but with or without me, we are quietly confident of winning.

Finally on behalf of all the players and staff at the club, big thank you to all the fans that have been to the home and away games supporting the boys.

See you on Saturday!

HAWKS boss Kevin Warren won't use the FA Cup as an excuse to rest players - but admits promotion is the be all and end all for Harlow Town FC this season.

The Barrows Farm men made it four wins in five league games with Tuesday night's 2-1 win over Heybridge Swifts in the Ryman division one north.

This comes on the back of the arrival of SIX new players, to ease an injury crisis that threatened to derail Harlow's title plans.

By ALAN SCOTT

Harlow host Essex Senior League side Bethnal Green United in the FA Cup first qualifying round this Saturday (3pm).

Warren admits the club have a huge squad now and up to four players could be moved on over the next few weeks. "We have a squad of about 26 and I wouldn't have that many in a season, but I've had no choice."

"We are in a race for the title but before you know it you are out of it. I am not here to do people favours. I am here to get the team promoted. I cannot keep everyone happy. There is healthy competition. Three or four need to go and one or two will leave off their own back."

"The finances are in place to attract some of these players. We are not paying silly money and we are not throwing it away. We want people who want to be part of this football club."

Warren was part of the Hawks squad which reached the first round proper two years ago when a record-breaking crowd of nearly 2,400 produced a record gate at Barrows Farm to see the defeat to League Two Macclesfield.

"The FA Cup is the biggest competition in the world. The further we go the more interest we get in the club."

"But Bethnal Green are no mugs. They are flying high in the Essex Senior League. They have two or three players who could play at Ryman north with no trouble at all. Michael Beggs was at Concord last year and players like that are going to be a threat. It's going to be a tough one."

Warren is also hoping for a big crowd. "If we can get the place buzzing, the players will draw on that," he added.

Skipper Leo Roget (hamstring) is a doubt but striker Jeff Hammond (hamstring) could return.

Harlow miss out on promotion despite win

THERE was heartache for Jason McNally's Harlow side as they just failed to clinch promotion despite winning their last game at Basildon & Pitsea.

Harlow's hopes were dashed on Saturday as second-placed Buckhurst Hill beat leaders Harold Wood by 55 runs.

This gave Buckhurst Hill the championship with 281 points, ahead of second-placed Harold Wood (also promoted on 277).

Harlow were left in third spot on 274.

Salt was rubbed into Harlow's wounds by the bad weather which meant two of their scheduled 18 games were abandoned, compared to only one for Harold Wood and none for Buckhurst Hill.

A team gets six points for an abandonment rather than getting up to 20 points for a win.

Harlow, who only lost one match, were extremely unlucky as the two promoted sides lost three.

But McNally, who only took over from James Butler as skipper this season, can look back on his first season with pride. Both his new signings, all-rounder Ahmed Khawaja and former Essex bowler Andrew McGarry, have made a huge impact.

Khawaja, below, who has scored 1,000 runs this season, was once again the star in Harlow's clash at Basildon.

But it was with the ball rather than the bat that he did most damage.

He shone with an astonishing spell of 6-11 in 9.2 overs before the hosts were bowled out for 162.

Harlow conceded 54 extras while opener Andre Olivier struck 53.

McNally claimed 3-33.

The best partnership in Basildon's innings came from Olivier and Mike Blerkom, who added 51 for the second wicket.

In reply, Harlow lost opener Niles Modhwadia for 1 before Khawaja joined Rehman Ahmed and the pair added an unbroken 163 for the second wicket.

Khawaja struck 120 not out and Ahmed made 42 not out as Harlow reached the target in only 16.1 overs.

Khawaja's knock came off only 49 balls. His knock included 17 fours and five sixes.

McNally said: "If we get 274 points again next year we will go up. It's one of those freak years where you have three teams much better than everybody else. It's very disappointing.

"I think there should be no points given if a game is cancelled and if you have two games off and average 16 points per game, you are given 32 points for those games. Ahmed Khawaja has proved a class player while Rehman Ahmed has done very well to score 500 runs opening the batting."

Town notch 4th win in five league games

HARLOW Town's joy at ending the unbeaten league record of hosts Heybridge Swifts was tempered by a late red card for central defender Laurie Stewart.

The Hawks central defender, who had netted Harlow's first goal, was serve a one-game ban.

The Hawks had earlier broken the deadlock on 24 minutes. A great free-kick from Bradley Barnes set up Stewart and he headed the ball into the bottom corner.

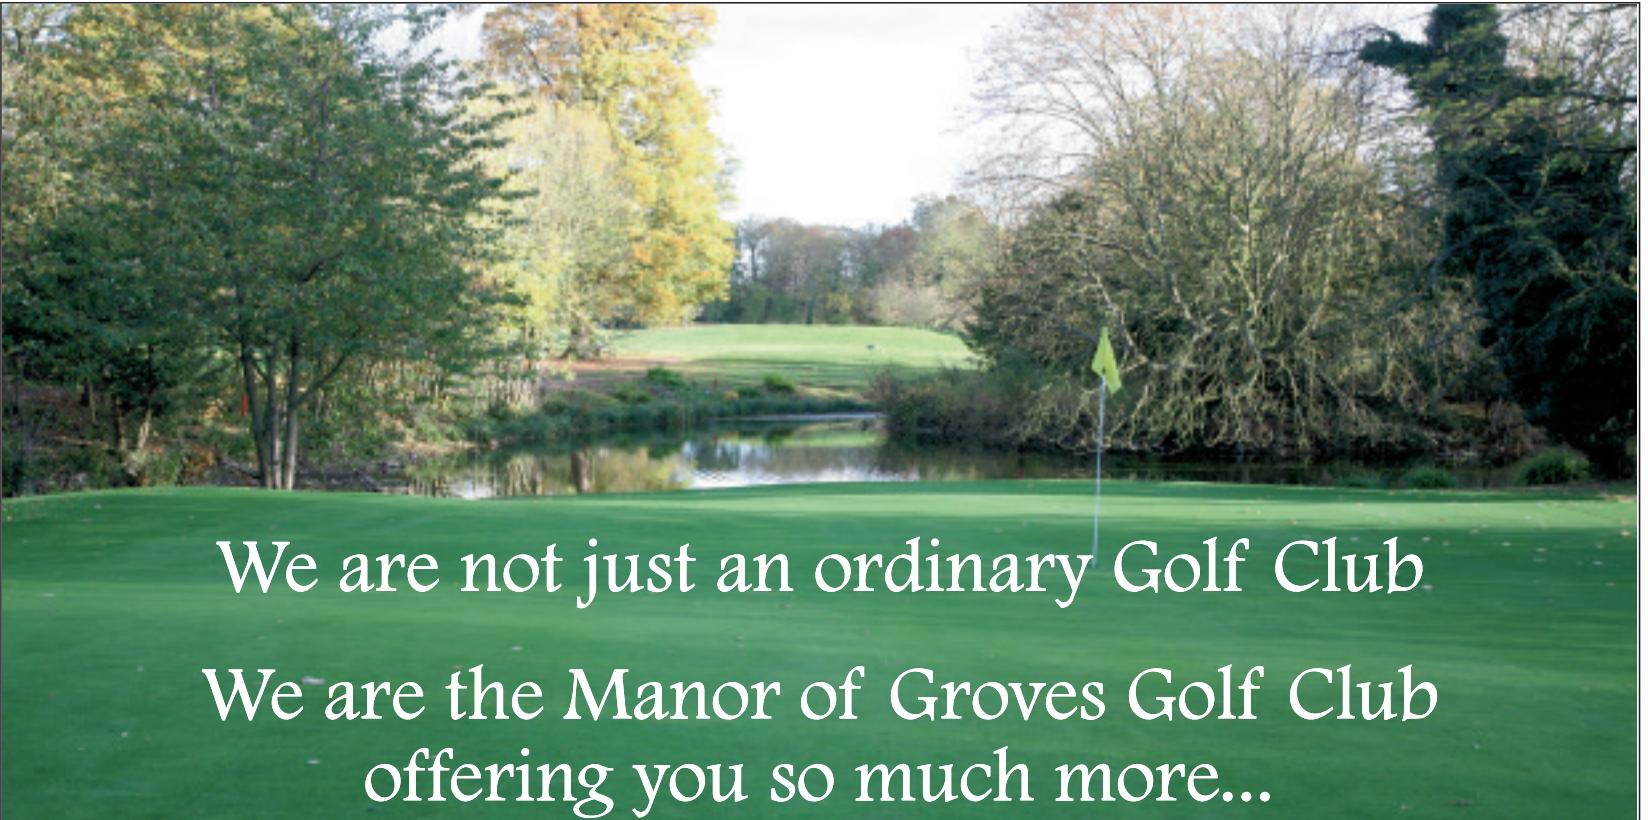

Shortly before the break,

Che Stadhart dragged a shot just wide of the post.

On 55 minutes, Kilapi broke but his effort on goal was pushed away by Heybridge keeper Aaron Omand and defender Billy Hawes cleared the danger.
